THE STANTON'S – HISTORICAL NOTES AND GENEALOGY

ROBERT L. JACKSON, 2004

Historical Background

At the beginning of the history of England, the Britons were largely in possession of the island. This possession continued up to the close of the first century when the Romans began their conquest. The Romans occupied parts of the country until about the middle of the fourth century, and were followed by the great Germanic invasion of which the Jutes from Slesvig were probably the first. Later the Saxon's came from the countries lying near the southwest shore of the Baltic Sea. They, in turn, were followed by the Angles from Slesvig (Jutland/Denmark). Some of the "original" inhabitants were driven to the hill country and remote parts, such as Cumberland and Wales. Others intermarried with the invaders and "lost" their nationality and distinctive character. The Angles gave their name to the country, Angles Land or England, and, under Egbert (827 A.D.) united many of the smaller countries into the Kingdom of England.

In the eighth century, the Northmen or Normans, a race of vigorous, self-reliant men, left the shores of Norway and Denmark, probably because of overcrowding and the scarcity of food, and repeatedly robbed the southeast coast of England and the western coast of the European continent. This activity took them even as far as the eastern end of the Mediterranean Sea, but they finally settled in large numbers in northern France. For some two centuries they mixed with the Gauls, the ancestors of the modern French. The Norse transmitted to the Gauls many traits they (Gauls) did not possess. These traits included vigor, physical strength, self-reliance and the spirit of adventure. In turn, the blending of cultures gave to the Normans culture and refinement, which they did not possess.

This was the ancestry of the Normans, who in 1066 A.D., under William the Conquerer, invaded a rather subdued England. Among the desirable traits they brought with them were the executive and administrative abilities which the English did not possess earlier.

Thus the amalgamation of the Britons, Jutes, Saxons, Angles, Gauls and Norsemen, came to America for freedom, religious and political. No doubt unconsciously they were urged on by a trace of old Norse spirit of adventure and the quest for better homes for them and their children.(1)

Origin of the Stanton name and Coat of Arms

The Stanton Coat of Arms as derived from the work of Albini or Albencius who received the castle from Todeni. The arms of Albini of Belvoir was a shield with a gold background upon which were two chevrons and a red border. He gave the Lord of Stanton a shield with a silver background upon which were two black chevrons within a curved or indented black border. Later, a helmet crest was adopted and consisted of a fox standing and of the natural color. There are two mottos. The one below the Coat of Arms is "EN DIEU MA FOY"(In God My Faith) the other above the crest is "MODERATA DURANT" (Moderate Acquisitions are Lasting).

The arms just described is to be found in Burke's Heraldic Illustrations and is borne by the Staunton's of Longbridge, who are a branch of the Staunton's of Staunton in Nottinghamshire. This is undoubtedly the basis of all Stanton arms and represents the original family.

The Stanton name is traced back to an Anglo-Saxon origin, formed of two key words, stan (stone) and ton (town) or Stonetown. Since the surname, sire name or father's name originally came from the place of residence, occupation, characteristic of the individual, or some notable event in his life, we can conclude that some ancestor took the name of his town (Stonetown) for his surname.

Staunton, before the Norman Conquest was the freehold of Tori and was held by Mauger. His descendants held the first residency there and took the Staunton name.

The historic origin of the Stanton's was in the eleventh century, in the southeast corner of Nottinghamshire, England and the northern end of Leicestershire, England. It was here that Sir Malgerus (Mauger), Lord of Stanton lived and became its first resident. Belvoir Castle is located five miles southeast of this Lordship. It was built by Robert de Todini in the 11th century. "The Lordship of Staunton" is five miles from Belvoir Castle and seven miles from Newark. It is believed that it was in the Staunton name for more than 13 centuries, about the date of the Saxon conquest. It is assumed by many that the family came with the Saxon's. The tower of the castle was defended by Sir Malgerus, against the onslaught of the Normans under William the Conqueror. The defense of the Tower by Malgerus was so strong and effective that, when William's forces prevailed, he rewarded Sir Malgerus all of the lands he had previously owned. Since that time it has been known as "the Staunton Tower."

`In the rhyming pedigree of the Staunton family, one finds the following reference to this tenure of the Castle Guard and the defense of Belvoir:

"At which the same time the Mauger knight
Thrughe feats of Arms and Sheeld,
In Marcyall prowe, so valeant was,
That then he wane the Feelde.
In Belveor Castle was his houlde,
The Stauntones Tour is highte,
The strongest Forte in all that front,
And heist to all men's sighte.

Unto which forte with force and Flagge
Ye Stauntons stocke must sticke,
For to defende against ye Foe,
Which at ye same coud kicke.
His lodginge large in that Turritte
At all times for his ease,
He may command both night and day,
An no man to displease." (5)

NOTE: In the parenthetical expressions of the above chart, the pronoun "you" refers to Robert L. Jackson. All of the relationships cited from that name, going back up the chart would be equally correct for all the siblings of Robert. For the brothers and sisters of Robert, the succeeding names of their families should replace Robert's name and those of his family. The difficulties of preparing one single chart is easily observed by examining the enclosed chart of Robert Stanton's descendants. Lines and relationships can be difficult to follow, although not impossible. Also note that some information for some individuals is clearly missing. new information can be added as it becomes available.

Some individuals choose to start the chart with the youngest, most recent birth in the family. In my case, Jacob would be listed first and "drawn downward" to Stephanie and Jason, then to Charles etc.

As of this date, October 2, 2006, I have researched over 2,800 names, all of which are related in some way to the

"Jackson Eight", paraphrasing Olin D. Jackson. My computer program has the capability to immediately display the "kinship" relationship for any single person in the name bank to all other people in that bank.

Because of the large quantity of names, a print-out would require 50 pages to include everyone. When my data is filed with a "Family tree" computer company, it will be accessible to anyone interested in obtaining it.

Settlement of the Estate of John Stanton

John Stanton passed away intestate (without a will) leaving unsettled debts. To pay off the debts, the family needed to sell his 90 acres of property. The property was sold to John's son Lodowick, and the deed was filed by the other heirs to the estate,namely, Susannah (Stanton) Lawrence, Mary Stanton Johnson, Sally Stanton Nobles, the daughters, and Thomas S. Stanton, Samuel W. Stanton, William Stanton, Benjamin Stanton, Joseph Stanton, Clark Stanton and John Stanton, sons. It appears from the deed that the husbands of the daughters also needed to sign off on the estate.

The deed reads as follows:

Recorded this 11th day of July, 1818.

By: Aaron Robinson, Town Clerk.

Hoeper (1), herself a descendant of both the Lawrences and Stanton's, examined the entries in the Bennington town records and sketched out the map of the said property occupied and owned by John Stanton. No explanation is offered for the multiple signings by some of the partys involved nor is there any explanation about the lag time between the filing in 1815 and the recording of the deed in 1818. Since the town of Pownal and the town of Bennington are only six miles apart, there clearly existed much interchange between the two families, not the least of which to mention was the marriage of John Lawrence, Jr. and Susannah Stanton, and the marriage of Lodowick Stanton and Mary Lawrence.

ROBERT STANTON

The First Direct Line Ancestor in America

Robert Stanton (Staunton) was born in Leicestershire, England in 1599. He married Avis Almy, daughter of Christopher Almy, South Kilworth, Leicestershire, England and a Miss Clarke. Robert and Avis had a son Robert, born in 1627 in England. The family emigrated to America some time between 1627 and 1638 as Robert Jr. made the journey with his parents. Apparently Robert's brother John also made the same journey as it is reported that John and Robert Stanton are among the very earliest settlers in New Plymouth. (1) There is as yet no certainty as to the parentage of Robert Senior. Some believe that his father was Thomas Stanton born in 1572, Leicestershire, England and mother Anne Stanton, born in 1576.(2)

Others suggest that, from a clipping from an old Newport paper, we read, "copies of the family record in my possession say that the father of Robert of Newport was Thomas, and that he died at his son's house, very aged. Thomas Stanton of Stonington was probably the brother of Robert."(3) If, in fact, the clipping is accurate regarding Robert's father, we may speculate that he emigrated at the same time as Robert and his family.

Robert and family were in Portsmouth, Newport, Rhode Island in 1638 (then called Pocasset). This was a settlement organized by William Coddington and others who left Massachusetts to avoid persecution on account of their religious opiions. (4) Apparently these opinions were so far removed from the tenets of the Bay Colony majority because of certain passages of the Bible, they were essentially driven out, settling in the Portsmouth area. Robert Stanton was one of the names signed to the compact for forming the colony of Portsmouth on the island of Aquidneck, having submitted themselves to the government thereof as it would be established. (5) On April 30, 1639, he and twenty-eight others signed the following compact:

> "We, whose names are underwritten do acknowledge ourselves the legal subjects of his majesty King Charles, and in his name do hereby bind ourselves into a civil body politicke, unto his laws, according to matters of justice."

Aquidneck Island is the largest in Narragansett Bay, eastern Rhode Island, occupying an area of forty-four square miles. Aquidneck was called by the Indians "Pocasset" (where the stream widens) and is located in the northern part of Portsmouth, Rhode Island. At one time it was controlled by the Wampanoag Indians, whose leader was the famous Great Sachem or the Massasoit. The Massasoit greeted the pilgrims at Plymouth, Massachusetts in 1621. Aquidneck Island was used primarily as a hunting territory for the Wampanoag Indians, although also served as a summer residence for them. (6)

It seems clear that Robert Stanton's residency remained in Portsmouth at least until 1645. He was present at a General Court of Elections on March 12, 1640. He received freeman status on March 16, 1641. In 1642 Robert was a Sergeant

The First Direct Line Ancestor in America

Junior, and in 1644, enjoined as a Sergeant. (5)

Robert's arrival in 1638 must have been accompanied by a great celebration Since, on September 15, 1638, he was fined 5 shillings for having been engaged in a "riot of drunkenness on the 13th." (5)

Robert and Avis had six children although some references list only three, And at least one lists nine. In addition to their son Robert Junior, they had Sarah, born in 1640 in Newport, Mary, born in 1642, John, born August 6, 1645, Newport, Rhode Island, Daniel, born in 1645 and Prudence, born in 1649.

In 1655, the first of the Society of Friends arrived from England, and their persecution began. Mary Stanton, a young woman from Rhode Island, (sixteen years of age and almost certainly the daughter of Robert Stanton) was whipped in Massachusetts in 1658 for being a Friend. She was one of many who suffered for their religious beliefs. It is not known whether Robert was a member of the Friends Society, but he appears to have sought freedom of religious beliefs in coming from Massachusetts to the more liberal Rhode Island. If he was not a member, some of his family were members as well as a large number of his descendants. A record of a Friends Meeting at Newport mentions son John as the first Stanton to join. Sarah or Mary or both may have joined before the family moved to Newport and thus Newport Friends had no record of Mary's persecution. (2)

Robert's daughter, Sarah, married Henry Tibbetts in December of 1661, and They raised eight children. (See Genealogical Chart S – 1)

Son John, my 6th great grandfather, married Mary Harndell (Harndale), (1647 – 1687), the daughter of John Harndell, in 1667 at a meeting of the Friends. They had ten children. (See Genealogy Chart S – 1)

John's second wife, Mary Clarke Cranston (1641 – 1711), was the widow of Governor John Cranston and a daughter of Jeremiah and Frances (Latham) Clarke. Together, they had one child, Henry, born May 22, 1688. These children are verified by the will of Captain John Stanton, dated 1712 and proved July 5, 1725. (See Chapter on John Stanton, (1645 – 1713)

Son Daniel married Elizabeth (maiden name unknown) in ~1676 and resided as a landowner in Newport. The Newport Record shows that on February 15, 1679, he sold to James Brown, a cooper (one who makes and repairs barrels and casks), in Newport, some land in Coeset for 40 shillings.

In 1680, the record shows that he paid taxes of 12 shillings. He served on a grand Jury in 1688. Both he and Elizabeth passed on sometime after 1690.

Daniel and Elizabeth had six children:
Elizabeth, born June 20, 1676, Martha, born June 8, 1678, Sarah, born February 27, 1680, Ruth, born April 8, 1687, Benjamin, born on October 20, 1690, and Daniel,

Born 19 April 1682. (See Genealogy Chart S – 1).(5)

Several of the Stanton's were mariners including Daniel III (1682 – 1708). Daniel was a sailor working between Barbadoes and Philadelphia. In 1706/07, he married Abigail Spicer. In 1708, they started on a journey from Barbadoes toward Philadelphia. Daniel dies during the voyage and is buried at sea. Abigail arrived in Philadelphia, and not long afterward, her son is born. Daniel IV was born in 1708. Abigail's will is dated May 10, 1714 and proved on May 31, 1714 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. There seems to be no record of the cause of her death as was true for many a pioneer in this country. She died a widow and gave her Estate to her son Daniel IV, with the following proviso: if he died before he reached the age of 21, the estate goes to her brother, Thomas Spicer. The evidence seems to suggest that Thomas also raised her son Daniel. Daniel survived and married Sarah Lloyd on 05 February 1733. They lived in Philadelphia where Daniel IV carried on the trade of a joiner and was also a distinguished Society of Friends preacher. For 43 years he traveled and preached, reaching such distant points as Barbadoes, England, Scotland and Ireland, and in many locations in America from North Carolina to Dover, Delaware and through many New England States. Daniel IV had children in Philadelphia, but only one child survived to be of age. Daniel IV died at the age of 62 on 29 June 1770. His wife, Sarah Lloyd Stanton, preceded him in death on 03 April 1748.

The memoirs of Daniel Stanton contained the following statement:

> "I was born in 1708 of honest parents, Daniel and Abigail Stanton. My father I never saw, being lost at sea before my birth. My mother died when I was a child, and I, being destitute of brother or sister, was brought up (until I was apprenticed) by my mother's brother in New Jersey. I was then apprenticed to a joiner in Philadelphia. In 1731 I went to Rhode Island to see relatives, this being the place where my father was born, and to obtain some estate there which was my father's, of which I had an account during my apprenticeship. Saw my relatives and staid some time to attend to my outward affairs and then returned to Philadelphia. (Note: Daniel was in Rhode Island in 1735 and 1744). My wife died in 1748, age 40, and in about a week later I lost my youngest son, having lost four sons before her death. I have two daughters left. A daughter Abigail died in 1757, age 21, and was the eldest daughter."

He also speaks of Uncle Thomas Chalkey and Aunt Martha Chalkey, and kinsman, Job Newman in Coventry, England. (Newman's wife was a sister to Daniel's wife.) He also spoke of being in Newport, Rhode Island, in 1754, at the burial of Samuel Holmes's wife. He references to Mary Henderson as "my father's sister, being near West River, Maryland" Mary Henderson died about 1761. Daniel reported a visit to Shrewsbury, New Jersey, to see "my father's cousin, James Tucker, 1764."

Daniel's children were John, born in 1734 and died in August 1737; Abigail, born in 1736 and died in November, 1757; Daniel V, born 1738 and died in 1740; Sarah, born July 5, 1741, married a Benedict Dorsey. Mr. Dorsey was born in 1734 at Anne Arundel, Maryland. She was still alive at the death of her father. Other children were John, born in 1743 and died in 1744; Samuel, born in 1745 and died in 1746; and Josiah, born in 1747 and died in 1748.(7,8)

THE DESCENDANTS OF

JOHN STANTON, SR.
1748 – 1814

MARY SHERMAN
1749 – 1838

The purposes of preparing this set of materials is threefold:

1. To correct errors of names and dates as provided in the original document prepared by Dr. Olin DeBuhr Jackson. The corrections made are those that have come about through records, papers, diaries and the research of others with similar roots.

2. To formulate a more complete picture of the extended family by identifying the families and grand-families of John and Mary Stanton.

3. To build a knowledge base for tracking the west-ward movement by examining locations for births, marriages and deaths and thereby locating primary sources of information. In addition, information can be obtained about the life, careers and interests of those who have gone before.

The material appearing in red type either corrects Olin Jackson's basic work, or is new information previously not known to the Jackson side of the family. My siblings can feel comfortable in adding or altering this material in the record O.D.J. has prepared for each of us. Resources on the Stanton research will be forth-coming with materials on the early Stanton's.

NOTE: In the parenthetical expressions of the above chart, the pronoun "you" refers to Robert L. Jackson. All of the relationships cited from that name, going back up the chart would be equally correct for all the siblings of Robert. For the brothers and sisters of Robert, the succeeding names of their families should replace Robert's name and those of his family. The difficulties of preparing one single chart is easily observed by examining the enclosed chart of Robert Stanton's descendants. Lines and relationships can be difficult to follow, although not impossible. Also note that some information for some individuals is clearly missing. new information can be added as it becomes available.

Some individuals choose to start the chart with the youngest, most recent birth in the family. In my case, Jacob would be listed first and "drawn downward" to Stephanie and Jason, then to Charles etc.

As of this date, October 2, 2006, I have researched over 2,800 names, all of which are related in some way to the

"Jackson Eight", paraphrasing Olin D. Jackson. My computer program has the capability to immediately display the "kinship" relationship for any single person in the name bank to all other people in that bank.

Because of the large quantity of names, a print-out would require 50 pages to include everyone. When my data is filed with a "Family tree" computer company, it will be accessible to anyone interested in obtaining it.

A Sherman Ancestral Addendum

Some recently obtained internet information on the Sherman line allows us to pre-date the ancestors of Mary Sherman to the 13th century A.D. While this has not been documented except for the fact that it has been published on the internet, it provides additional information regarding "possible roots to the middle ages.

Thomas Sherman (1425) appears to be the son of John Sherman, born in 1394 and his wife, Mary Lance, born about 1398.

Mary Lance was the daughter of John Lance (1368) and Isabelle Davis (1372). They were married in 1419 at Yaxley, Suffolk, England Isabelle's father was Edward Davis. I have no further information on him at this time.

A mathematical question. Is Ruth right or wrong again? 1 See back. Jan. 18, '03

Bob,

I'm not quite sure how to state this logically, but if you will pull your material Sec. K and look at my transcript and your copy of the letter dated Sep.8, 1874 by Adeline (Lawrence Bigelow), I think we have a mathematical conundrum of:

"Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other" if there is supportive EVIDENCE.

1. In Adeline's letter she said, "I have their Bible and the date of his birth was Feb. 19, 1746 Old Style." (O.S should be 1745/46)

2. In my transcript "She was born Jan. 17th 1748 (O.S.should be 1747/48)

3. Because when John "he was Died Oct. 27th 1825" "aged 79 years 7 months & 25 days" re-computes to Mar. 2, 1746 or to be O.S. 11 days must be subtracted achieving Feb. 19, 1745/46.

4. But Mary's age in my transcript has the same little year error: of 1748. as the same error in Adeline's letter.

5. I think this is the EVIDENCE. "Things

Bob, you could not possibly have known this when your "PART I "THE JACKSONS" was typed and Mary Lawrence's birth is shown as as Jan 17, 1749.

I bless you for having all that you do from your ancestors.

My husband says I have "convoluted thinking" in that I look at things in a different way. This letter may be an example of one of them.

I'll be very interested in your views of what I think is a conundrum or different way of comparing statements.

Ruth

Bob,

I'm not quite sure how to score this logically, but if you still pull your material
Ben. I and look at my xerox-ript and your copy of the letter dated Jan.8, 1274 by Adeline (Lawrence Bigelow). I think we have a mathematical coincidence of "Values equal to the same thing are equal to each other." If there is supportive EVIDENCE.

1. In Adeline's letter she said, "I have their Bible and the date of his birth was Feb. 19, 1756 (Old Style)." (Old should be 1745/46)

2. In my transcript "She was born Jan. 11th 1748 (O.S.should be 1747/48)

3. Because when John "he was died Oct. 5th 1825" "aged 77 years 7 months & 23 days"

re-computes to Nov. 5, 1748 or 23 months, 11 days must be subtracted achieving Feb. 19, 1825/26.

4. But Mary's age in my transcript has the same little year error of 1748.
as the same error in Adeline's letter.

5. I think this is the EVIDENCE.

Bob, you could not possibly have known this when your "PART I "JOB JACKSON" was typed and Mary Lawrence's birth is shown as as Jan 11, 1748.

I bless you for having all that you do from your knowledge.

My hunbandy says I have "computer sickness" in that I look at things in a different way. This letter may be an example of one of them.

I'll be very interested in your views of what I think is a coincidence or different way of accepting assumptions.

COMMENTARY

(R. A. Hoeper, (rah) rec'd xerox of 1883 bk by J. Usher, free)

Re: Four Old Letters, an 1883 Book and A Detroit 1885 Article
All about Lawrence-Townley Estate issue

(Letters found 1988 by Lenna (Rice) MacIvor)

The contents of the Old Letters dating back to 1874-80, of the 1883 book by James Usher and the article in an 1885 issue of a Sept. Detroit Sun.News all had something to do with the Lawrence-Townley estate issue. The information therein gives us Lawrence descendants cause for reflection and invites us to review our Lawrence Lineage as we have known it and of the few who differ about it. It now appears possible that earlier Lawrence relatives who were interested in becoming an heir in a Lawrence-Townley estate adopted an ancestry that was incorrect. Later descendants not knowing of this followed the same lineage.

The significant information abstracted or deduced from the Old Letters from two cousins is that:

- Russel J. Lawrence became interested in the Lawrence-Townley estate and wrote to two distant cousins who were the gd.dau & gd.son of Russel's grandparents John & Mary Lawrence (of Bennington, VT)
- Adeline Bigelow had her Grandmother Mary Lawrence's Bible, and no parents shown for John or Mary.
- Mary Lawrence's maiden name was Cleveland as stated by Samuel N(elson) Lawrence
- Mary's father's name was Josiah, and she had a half-bro. whom she had written to in Owego, N.Y. ("Cleveland Genealogy", p.160-1 shows father and half-bro named Josiah, & half-bro. liv.Owego.)
- Grandfather not a member of any church; Grandmother was a Baptist (Church research showed Baptist church in Pownal, VT in 1762; in Bennington, VT by 1827. rah)
- John Lawrence was born either in Canterbury or Norwich, CT. Canterbury not far from Norwich. ("Cleveland Genealogy" p.161, indicates Mary born Canterbury.)
- Adeline says that John Lawrence born Feb. 19, 1746 Old Style (We know O.S uses 1745/46)(Mary was aware of the difference because John's headstone has Born March 2, 1746, Conn. rah)
- Adeline at one time wrote to Minerva (Fuller). (~~Russel's~~ sister, ~~both~~ lived Oxford, MI then, and they were grown children of John & Susannah Stanton Lawrence, (1870 Cen. Russel in Avon Twnp, Rochester PO (Later corrected)
- Samuel N. Lawrence doesn't know if John Lawrence had any brothers "but he may have". (My own deed & map research shows that John bought property in Lot 6, in 1770, and a Josiah Lawrence sold property in Lot 5, in 1774 to Jos. Palmer of Preston [formerly Norwich, CT.]. Josiah Lawrence [per son Josiah's Rev.pension] came fr. Norwich in 1768. John Lawrence, b.1746 came to Bennington age 22, or in 1768. [Josiah d.1802, age 68.] His headstone to left of Mary Lawrence & John Lawrence's headstone to right of Mary's. rah) ("Norwich Vital Records"p.161, Show Samuel Lawrence had son Josiah, b.Apr.15, 1834, & John b.Feb.19, 1745/46, & more child'n. Bk.at Benn.Museum Lib. rah)
- Samuel N. Lawrence knew a Lawrence person in ALBANY (N.Y.) & suggested Russel send this name to a lawyer Russel already knew there. (Was this the D. Carver, formerly of ALBANY in Detroit News 1885 article? D. Carver's name also in Usher's 1883 book. rah)

Added footnotes on the Old Letters could lead to finding a Bigelow descendant who inherited Mary Lawrence's Bible. It is more than likely that this Bible had more statistics about John & Mary Cleveland Lawrence & their children. Oakland Co., Mich. 1885 book, and a DAR 1922 Application show someone had more knowledge than in three letters. as DAR has yr. birth & knew who had died.)

The 1885 Detroit Sunday News article came to me as lead page before pages of James Usher's book, (See Enc.II and II A for both items.) The article is quite illuminating. Mr. D. Carver who disappeared is mentioned in Usher's book. (Milwaukee Lib. does not know what library sent copies of Usher's Bk. My guess Detroit Lib.)

Mr. Usher's book has great deal of information about Lawrence names in Chapter I. I added margin notes to some pages. He names several Lawrence genealogy books; some he criticized, some he admires. Much is written on Jonathan & Hannah Robbins Lawrence, their son Jonathan, and gd. sons: Lebbeus, b. Halifax, N.S. and Jasiel, b.Easton, MA. In one story Jonathan is lost at sea; Hannah remarries & has children, Jonathan is rescued, finally arrives in Eng. where he later died. His son Jonathan in one place was called Jonathan John Lawrence. One Lawrence mother who had had a son must have been aged 62 at the event. People were very serious in their efforts to contrive an heir-worthy lineage. BUT Usher catagorically states that Jonathan & Hannah had only two boys & two girls. The boys were Jonathan & William. (They can be found in Walpole & Medfield Vital Records. rah) Unless you have Chase ancestors, skip Chapter II. Usher's research in Eng. & U.S. is impressive.

In reviewing our LAWRENCE LINEAGE, most of us had had JONATHAN & HANNAH ROBBINS LAWRENCE as parents of John Lawrence of Bennington, VT whose wife was Mary Cleveland. In 1980 I found this ancestry in the 1885 Oakland Co., MI history book, pub. 1891. (See Enc.III) The earliest ancestor here was John Lawrence who married Mary Townsley, whose father in England disinherits her. They come to New England with son Jonathan. He m/1st Elizabeth Buttrick who had 4 child.; & died; Jonathan m/2nd Hannah Robbins who had had 6 children one of whom was John Lawrence of Benn.,VT. (Enc.III A) An abstract of the data in this Lawrence lineage has been updated with remarks found in several sources. The sketch in Oakland Co. article was on Samuel S. Lawrence who was a youngest brother of Russel J. Lawrence to whom the 1874/75 letters were written. My gt.gd/4 mother was Ruth, 1st child of John & Mary Cleveland Lawrence.

In 1987 I sent the 1885 Oakland Co., MI, sketch to Barbara D. Lawrence in Olympia, WA, who had had an inquirey about Jonathan & Hannah Robbins Lawrence. (See Enc.IV) Her letter back showed her husband Edward L. Lawrence, b.1920, was a direct descendant of them and they had no son John. In a brief lineage were found the names of Lebbeus, b.1765, N.S. who d.1818, Lansingburgh, NY, & a son Jasiel, b.1772, MA. (The last two names are mentioned often in Chap.I of Usher's 1883 book. rah) In 1992 I sent Barbara a copy the DAR 1922 Application. Writing backshe sent pages from 1888 book "The Mystery Solved" by Frank A. Hill on the Lawrence-Townley estate issue, and pages from other references. Her words in 1987 were: "I still haven't solved our LAWRENCE lineage positively." I talked to her in 1999. She and her husband doing well except that she had had a stroke which affected her memory and couldn't remember genealogy, but her husband can help with this. Some enclosures going to her.

In 1992 my husband and I went to Bennington, VT, found John & Mary Lawrence's headstones, went to Bennington Museum Library (BML), TO Benn. City Hall and Benn. Co. Court House. We xeroxed a variety of records. (See Enc.V,A) I received from BML a portion of a 1790 map showing the lots where John Lawrence and Joseph Palmer had lived. The most significant statements by the BML librarian were:

- they had no information on who were parents of John and Mary Lawrence.
- they thought John Lawrence might have been the s/of Samuel & Mary Lawrence of Norwich, CT. BML"S copy of "Vital Records of Norwich" showed John Lawrence, b. 19 Feb. 1745/46, s/of Samuel & Mary.
- they thought Mary's maiden name was Cleveland as a copy of DAR Patriot Index had: John Lawrence (w/b & d. data) m. Mary Cleveland, PVT VT, but had no DAR Application. BML had the 3 Vols of 1891 Cleveland Genealogy" (I later xeroxed many pages from Lib-of-Cong. 3 rolls of microfilm.) (Only index in roll 3)
- they had a John Lawrence correspondence folder. In this was the name of Marlene Weber (now Murphy) of Millington, MI, who I later phoned and wrote to sending copies of ancestor research papers.

BML's archival material was quite large on early Bennington settlers. Surname index cards lead to documents.

In 1992 Marlene Murphy sent me a copy of the 1922 DAR Application of Fleta Lawrence Trask; sent copies of a 1971 book by John E. Fetzer (a Lawrence in-law) who also believed John Lawrence was s/of Samuel & Mary Lawrence of Norwich, CT) sent copy of certified paper correcting marriage year of John Lawrence to Susannah Stanton; sent pages of her own genealogy of "Descendants of John Lawrence and Mary Cleveland" and the index.

But Fetzer our John Lawrence w/2nd wife!

The DAR Application referenced "Family Bible Records" and other references. In researching the data I typed margin notes in where I couldn't find data or a reference. I started research to find a descendant who had the Bible. John W. Trask's biographical sketch in the 1960 ed. of "Who Was Who in Am." had very helpful information. He retired ca.1940 while living in Boston. They moved to Pittsfield, MA, a place within 50 miles of Benn. VT. If Fleta ever went there and found that BML had no info on John & Mary Lawrence's parents, her relatives never heard this, nor did the Pittsfield DAR Chapter's copy of Application note any differences. Fleta could have visited the New England Historical & Genealogical Society's Library in Boston and could there have learned of the doubtfulness of the inheritance issue. Interesting is the fact that John W. Trask authored or co-authored bks & articles "on vital statistics". Fleta had w/her father pursued the estate issue per family.

By 1996 I had located most of Fleta's descendants and those of her sister Ada Ebert (See Enc.VI,C.) Unfortunately, the "Old Family Bible" was gone. One gt.gd.dau had described it to me as "a large, heavy, leather-covered, black book with records in the front". The Bible had been discarded later in 1993 at the estate settlement of Barbara Kurtz Pfleeger, who had had a large Bible collection. Unknown to me she had died in Alexandria, VA, about two miles from my Arlington home. Ada Ebert's two daus. & son were found in CA. Her death record & a cemetery office were helpful in locating them. They had their Gd.father Orrin's 1868 Bible. All the descendants found had heard of some kind of an estate inheritance issue. In 1966 the Ebert family had received a letter from someone in Detroit, MI, area inquiring about the issue.

Also, by 1996 I had found out a lot of information from census, county, and genealogy references on the Benn. VT and Mich. families. The one peson who could be researched, and who might have received information from Fleta Trask is her brother Parker Monroe Lawrence. Per 1868 Bible he died circa Nov. 17, 1924, Saginaw, MI. Marian Ebert Gray sent me copies of the Bible record pages. (Check the data as I did find one error.) Using obituaries, vital records, probate, cemetery and city directory information are leads in Saginaw to finding descendants. I have the information from 1910 and 1920 census on the family. Can send info. if Mich. can help. ( By 2002 I rec'd. Obit on their oldest dau. Ada., but survey of the poss. names in phone bk Pontiac area not done.)

In 1996 Marlene Murphy sent another genealogy entitled "Descendants of Jonathan Lawrence" which brought in the persons in Oakland Co. 1885 sketch and another person whose sketch was in "History of Macomb County, Michigan" pub. 1882. This sketch was on an E(rastus) W. Lawrence "able to trace his line of descent from John and May (Townley) Lawrence.....genealogy obtained from descendants living in Massachusetts". (Usher's book mentions in one place a Massachusetts Association concerned with estate issue. rah) (See Enc.VII) Because Marlene has more information there on Jonathan Lawrence's children of his 1st and 2nd marriages, including on Erastus W. Lawrence. Now we cousins would like to know what is her back-up documentation, the references, and vital records found and any other research information? What are they?

In both Marlene's first and second genealogy issues she incorporated Lawrence family data from the first person in family who had typed a "Lawrence Family Record". This was Bethel E. J. (Rice) Barger who obtained her data from Norris W. Lawrence, the youngest son of Russel J. Lawrence. She may not have known of R.J.'s Old 1874/75 letters. But she did have the information from the 1882 Macomb Co. & 1885 Oakland Co, MI articles and stated them almost exactly as shown. Bethel received a copy of John E. Fetzer's book "The Men from Wengen and America's Agony?" and knew of his disbelief in inheritance estate issue, and that he believed that John Lawrence was more likely to have been the son of Samuel & Mary Lawrence of Norwich, CT. Fetzer's wife Rhea Yeager Fetzer was a descendant of John[1] Lawrence of Watertown, MA. From names Bethel gave me I was able to find several Norris W. Lawrence descendants in CA. Sent my findings to Bethel Barger and Marlene Murphy. We have all kept Bethel informed of research findings. I met her once when she visited our home in VA. In 1996?

My Lawrence Synopsis Papers (Enc.VIII, A,B) represent briefly what is known by us or others on branches of Lawrence family or what is conjectured. Item III,C "The Lawrence Pedigree" by Mr. Somerby was found in two references, the earliest in an 1856, Vol.X, issue of New Eng. Hist. & Gen. Soc. Reg. It also was in Henry Bond's 1860 book on page 1080. (Usher's book references the pedigree.)

There were quite a few people who were doing genealogies who became discouraged with others who became involved in inheritance issues in England and altered correct lineage lines. This deprived persons seeking the family facts. However, over the years many corrections or new information appears on lineages. Most will show up in the N.E.Hist.& Gen.Soc.'s Register (published annually).

One Lawrence cousin, Florence Jorgenson, lives near Lenna MacIvor & found a new name for wife of John[1] Lawrence of Watertown, MA. She found the name of Elizabeth Adkins Waters ~~in the book "Sherry Jo Fobes and Her Ancestoral Families" by Lawrence Fobes, pub. 1976. Two books were referenced: one by J. Lawrence, 1856; one by Thomas Lawrence, 1858. References to be researched now.~~ (This name does not appear in Clarence A. Torrey's 1987 book "New England Marriages Prior to 1700" or the two supplements since then rah) The indexes for the N.E.His.& Gen. Soc. need to be checked to see if that name appears. Share the info if you find it. Need proof Flo. sent me pages on Waters.

Bond's books, the earliest in 1855, show that the line of Jonathan Lawrence we had had was most likely from John[1] Lawrence's son Peleg; the line for Samuel Lawrence of Norwich, CT, from John[1]'s son Isaac. There are lots of Johnathan names as sons in Bond's book. Only further research will clarify our true lineage. (Enc.IX, A has pages 819-826 from Bond's 1860 book.) The other references in Enc.IX are by authors with inheritance estate issue as a topic.

Feel free to xerox and share with others any of this information coming to you. I've tried to summarize what we know about our ancestors and other's differences. I don't know the name of the library that sent me the xerox copy of Usher's book in answer to my Inter-Library-Loan request. I suspect it was the Detroit Public Library because of the news article that was the first page of the set. I called Detroit Library and they said they might have a Lawrence folder that could contain copies of short genealogies submitted to them. Another research project.

Thank you for taking the time to read this summary, and all the enclosures especially the Old Letters and Usher's book. I'm looking forward to all your comments.

With affection, a Lawrence researcher,

Dr. Robert L. Jackson,

Four Old Letters were found by Lenna (Rice) MacIvor whose Great Grandfather was Russel J. Lawrence, who was a grandson of John and Mary Cleveland Lawrence of Bennington, VT. Three of the letters were by Russel's cousins, also grandchildren of John & Mary Lawrence. The last letter was to Russel by a lawyer, James Usher. Mr. Usher wrote a book in 1883 on the Lawrence-Townley, Chase-Townley Estates and Families.

The letters give you quite a bit of information. But the one by Adeline who says that she has her Grandmother Lawrence's BIBLE is very significant as Adeline states no parent's names shown for either John or Mary. You will have to read all the material and make up your own mind as to our lineage.

You will find a copy of Usher's book in Enc.II. I was sent a copy marked "free material, * no need to return" when I requested the book on Inter-Library-Loan. The lead article before the title page was a clipping from a Detroit Sunday News for Sept. 1885. Other Lawrence relatives beside Russel J. Lawrence continued to pursue an elusive estate issue - a myth.

I have typed my COMMENTARY about all the material that is now known to us. There is much to think about. It was just easier to copy many things than to just write about them to you.

My list of references indicate what can be researched, and I can tell you as Usher does that I found no Vital Records for John Lawrence ever having been born to Jonathan and Hannah Robbins Lawrence.

A letter of mine in 1987 was answered by Barbara Dayton Lawrence of Olympia, WA whose husband is a direct descendant of Jonathan and Hannah Robbins Lawrence. I look forward to hearing from her family about the Usher book.

Perhaps one of us through researching, or a later descendant will find the information as to who were the parents of John Lawrence of Bennington.

Sincerely, a distant cousin,

Ruth

Buffalo. Oct. 20. 1874

Dear Cousin.

Yours of yesterday reached me this morning. I am very glad to hear from any one from whom I claim any relation as I know but few persons related to me by the name of Lawrence with whom I have any acquaintance. I suppose you are the son of him we used to call Uncle John. I wish you would write me what you know about all your Brothers & sisters & where they are living also tell me if you can anything about any of the Dimick family. There must be many of them scattered somewhere.

In regard to my own Family my sister Adeline lives in Cambridge & has four children. Her name is Bigelow & I see you have written to her

I have three children one son & two daughters. My son is married & has one child. My oldest daughter also & lives in Norwich Conn the very home & I think birth place of our Grand Father John Lawrence It was either there or Canterbury Conn & which I do (Page 2) not know & have no means of finding out as I know of. I supposed the old Bible my Sister has would tell but it seems it does not but it was either Norwich or Canterbury Conn.

I never had much faith in the report about our name being to entitled to much money never the less if it is due us let us have it if we can get it. Should you ever come this way I hope you will give me a call & if you do not let me know all about your Brothers & Sisters & any other relatives we may have in the area. The Stanton Family are also cousins but I know nothing about them.

Hours truly
Saml N. Lawrence

(Facts known or from research on Lawrence members and descendants:

Dear Cousin: Russel J. Lawrence of Michigan, son of John & Susannah Stanton Lawrence, Jr. John and Susannah Lawrence moved from Bennington, VT after 1810, then to NY, then to Mich.

Uncle John: May have been some one in Fay or Thayer families. Samuel's mother was Ruby Thayer Lawrence who d.1836. Samuel N. b.cal815. But probably was Russel's father John.

Dimick family: His Aunt Sarah Lawrence & Seth Dimick had a dau. Sarah Dimick who married Elijah Adkins, Jr. in 1832, Bennington, VT and they lived there and in 1850 were in Madison Co., NY. The families lost touch apparently as Samuel N. Lawrence in Troy, NY, 1840.

Grand Father John Lawrence was born either Norwich, Conn. or Canterbury, Conn. Samuel's next letter determines by indirection the correct location.

Stanton Family: Sam'l.N. had an Aunt Mary Lawrence married to Lodowick Stanton, bro. of Susannah. They lived Pownal, VT. Lodowick, a widower, later moved to Mich. as did his only living child John L. Samuel N. Lawrence had an Aunt Ruth Lawrence Palmer & Uncle Seth Palmer. Their dau. Sophina Palmer married William Stanton, bro. of Lodowick. Ruth dau. of John & Mary Lawrence.

Dear Cousin

(To Russel J. Lawrence fr. Samuel Nelson Lawrence of Buffalo, NY.)

Yours of the 7th is recd. In regard to matter of which you wrote I must say I never had much confidence in the reports about the Lawrence fund. Neither did I ever take any steps or pains to investigate the matter & yet I should be as glad as yourself to be in recpt of any amt of money coming to my portion of the Lawrence Family. I have long been sorry I did not know more of my ancestry but I really know nothing beyond my Grand Father whose name was John & he died when I was quite young. I used to hear Grandmother talk much about her relatives whose name was Cleaveland & her Fathers name was Josiah of Norwich Conn & that Grand Father was born Canterbury not far from Norwich & that they came to VT on horse back which was a long & tedious journey. She mourned greatly during her later days that she could not hear from or find out anything about her relatives and my Father died before she did find that she had a halfBrother living in Owego in this state & did have considerable correspondence with him but I never heard or remember that my Grand Father had any Brothers & yet he may have had

(*See below for Cleaveland name.)

(John's headstone states b.Mar.2, 1746, Conn. and came to VT age 22 fr.Conn)

(He means Gd.Father as he d.1825; Mary d.1836. S.N.Lawrence's father Samuel, d.1861, B.VT. He was Deacon in Church.)

I do not think my GrandFather had was a Professor of religion or was a member of any Church. Grand Mother was a Baptist though she was not a believer in Close Communion & never believed sprinkling was as much Baptism as immersion.

(In 1830 Benn.VT census a woman 80-90 yrs old was in Samuel Lawrence family and probably was Sam'l's mother Mary Cleveland Lawrence.)

(The Baptist Church was established in Benn.VT in 1827; was formed in Pownal VT. in 1762. The Congregation Church established Benn., VT. 1762. Many members came from Norwich, CT at that time.)

There is an acquaintance of mine in Albany by the name of A L Lawrence though I do not know that we are related. I would recommend that you write to him about the matter & give him the name of the Lawyer in that City who you refer to & get him to call & see the Lawyer & write you. I know he will cheerfully do it.

( See below for lawyer name in Albany.)

I am & also my family in usual health. Would be glad to see you & hear from you often. Your paper was recd & have so much reading matter I reqested the Pro_____ be sending to my sister whose family would read it much more carefully than I could

Truly yours S N Lawrence

Although Adeline Lawrence Bigelow and Samuel N. Lawrence were unsure of just where John or Mary Cleveland Lawrence were born, the names of Norwich and Canterbury, Conn. remained memories.

R. J. Lawrence Esq
Dear Sir

I have been to England for a considerable length of time and have devoted almost all my time while there to the Townley and Lawrence case in whos intrest I had gone to give the matter my personal and prompt attention.

It almost invariably requieres considerable time and experience to examine an old claim properly, and a hurried imperfedt investigation would be worse than useless.

Your intrest as well as my own rendered it necessary that I should proceed contiously and after weeks and months of conscientious and assiduous labor under the most trying circumstances I have thoroughly examined the case with the assistance of some of the most eminent solicitors in London and brought it to a definite, and final stanpoint.

I now enjoy the satisfaction of feeling that I have been unpredictabby successful having procured an authentic statement from the court officials at London, and accomplishment which has not ever been approximated heretofore by any effort of the kind single or combined. And now I have no hesitation whatever in saying that I have a complete and reliable report of this case collected from the records of the High Court of Chaucery in England, and other sources.

Yours truly,

James Usher

REGARDING: Lawrence/Townley Estate

I

11-24-96

My husband died in 1985. So it was probably about 1987 that mother called me downstairs and said she had a packet of letters she would like me to read, if I had time. She died in 1988. These were letters that Aunt Mary Leonard had given to Grandma (Carrie Ella Lawrence Rice) that Uncle Major and his lawyer had written to each other. The lawyer was to look into the Lawrence - Townley estate to see if there was any inheritance. The lawyer wrote him that there was absolutely no ~~relationship~~ between John Lawrence and Mary Townley to the Townley Family Estate in England. He said he had followed every lead he could find and no luck.

Lenna Mae Rice MacIvor

Note: In Mar. 2000, Lenna said she did not keep the letters because they were about so much in the past and why bother now about them.

(Not looked at in 1988, as had Frank Alden Hill's 1888 pages on Lawrence-Townley Estate problem.)(After the Old Letters were found in 1998, I ordered Usher's book & received a copy on Inter-Library-Loan marked " free ". I copied it and sent it to interested Lawrence descendants.)

(Ruth A. Hoeper found this notice long before the old letter turned up in 1999 by Lenna Rice MacIvor who remembered I had sent it to her.)

The Records of the Dyer Family preserve much interesting information concerning that family in this country and in England. The founder of the American family was William Dyer of Boston and Newport, whose wife, Mary Dyer, was the heroic quaker martyr. The records of her life and that of her husband are here preserved in detail, as are also those of some distinguished persons descended from them.

The book on the Spare family is chiefly devoted to the descendants of Samuel Spare, who came to this country and settled in Boston as early as 1729, and about ten years later removed to Canton, Mass., where he died. The biographies of the heads of the early families are quite full. Much antiquarian matter of general interest is preserved, with engravings of old buildings.

Thomas Wood, to whose descendants the next book is devoted, settled at Rowley, Mass., as early as 1654. This genealogy is confined to the posterity of his son Solomon. It seems to be carefully compiled, with full and precise dates.

The first two parts of the Humphreys Family have been noticed by us in July, 1883, and January, 1884. The third and fourth parts now before us, are prepared in the same exhaustive manner. The work bids fair to be one of the most satisfactory genealogies issued. It is illustrated by portraits, facsimiles, etc., and is handsomely printed on fine paper with a broad margin.

Part one of the Goodrich family was published last year, and noticed in October. It was devoted to the English history. The part before us contains an account of William Goodrich of Wethersfield, Conn., and four generations of his descendants, bringing the genealogy down to about the period of the Revolution. A specimen of Mr. Hubbard's Ancestral Register for eight generations is given. Another part, price $1.75, will complete the work. The price of the whole work, with title-page, preface, table of contents and indexes, will be three dollars.

The last pamphlet is devoted to the investigation of the wild stories about the Townley estate in England, which have deluded many persons in the United States and drawn money from a host of credulous people, a large proportion of whom could not afford to lose it. The supposed Townley estate has been claimed by different families—the Lawrences, the Chases and others. Some of the stories placed the Townley property awaiting heirs at five hundred million dollars. Mr. Usher was employed by certain persons to ascertain whether there was such a property, and whether they could recover the same. After a thorough investigation he reports that "there is no fund now in the Bank of England or the Court of Chancery in the name of Mary Townley Lawrence or Mary T. Chase," and that the whole story of such an estate in England is a myth. An investigation of the alleged Burnham property of England about eleven years ago, by Edward Payson, who was ably assisted by the late Col. Chester, resulted in the same manner. It is strange that men and women who in other matters display caution and common sense, should be easily duped by improbable stories of fabulous estates in England. Mr. Usher has done a good work by collecting all the accounts of the Townley estate which have been printed and otherwise circulated, and showing that they are improbable and inconsistent. He has given a pedigree of the Townley family and brief genealogies of Chase and Lawrence.

Dear Ruth,

Do to an error in the set-up of the "New England - New York Ancestors before 1850" Mildred LAWRENCE was given my code number and visa versa. Rather than have a correction notice sent out we decided to leave it and forward any correspondence to rightful person. By the way - Mildred and I are cousins, both married LAWRENCES' and the LAWRENCES' are not related.

At one time I too was searching the LAWRENCE-TOWNLEY pedigree - but to no avail. The more I read on the LAWRENCE-TOWNLEY info the more confused. Finally got a xerox copy of "The Mystery Solved". Facts Relating to the "LAWRENCE-TOWNLEY," "CHASE-TOWNLEY," Marriage and Estate Question by Frank Alden HILL. I'm enclosing two chapters that may or may not help. I still haven't solved our LAWRENCE lineage positively - some of which was sent to me and I'm still questioning it. But will claim until something else appears.

RE: My correspondence to Barbara. 1987

Her name was in the book noted in her first paragraph. Barbara was looking for information on Jonathan Lawrence and Hannah Robbins. I sent her the Oakland County, Michigan article which had the sketch on Samuel S. Lawrence and so much ancestral information.

She sent back a few pages from "The Mystery Solved", and I saw the book on microfilm at the Library of Congress. Take my word for it and Barbara's. Our Lawrence ancestors at some point became involved with trying to be part of a mythical estate in England.

The lineage of Jonathan Lawrence goes back to his being the son of Peleg and Elizabeth Morse Lawrence.

In 1992 when I received the DAR application for 1922 on Fleta Lawrence Trask, I sent Barbara a copy. She wrote back that in references she had researched, there was no son John born Mar. 2, 1746. and sent me following enclosures:

"History of the Town of Medfield, Mass, 1650-1886" edited by Wm. S. Tilden, 1887; pp.424-425

"History of Robbins Family of Walpole, Mass."
Dana W. Robbins, 1949; p. 19.

"McCormick-Hamilton Lord-Day Ancestral Lines" 1957
by Eliz. Day McCormick & Robert Hall McCormick III; pp.621-626 and title page copy.

NO JOHN LAWRENCE'S BIRTH SHOWS.

HOWEVER:

Subsequent research in other references showed that there was a gap of years between births of children of Jonathan & Hannah Robbins Lawrence which would allow for a John Lawrence to have been born. Since Jonathan Lawrence died in Nova Scotia, research there may disclose a will or intestate proceedings. Hannah Robbins Lawrence came back to Walpole, Mass. and was supported by the town.

BUT James Usher's 1883 "catagorically states that Jonathan and Hannah Robbins Lawrence had only two boys and two girls" in "History of the Lawrence-Townley, Chase-Townley Estates & Families".

Most books have more of his children than the five Barbara Lawrence shows,

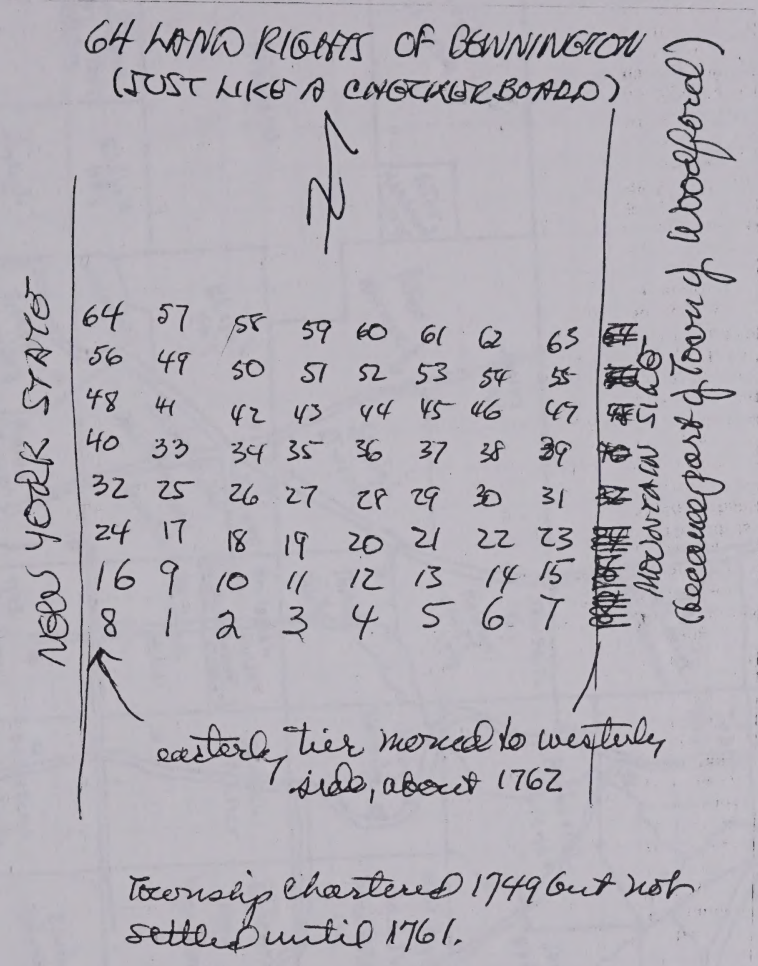
From: Bennington Museum Library
Bennington, Vt.



Ruth: Bennington granted by Gov. Benning Wentworth of New Hampshire, 1749. "Bennington was first township granted in what is now State of Vermont." Was composed of 64 rights of 320 acres * each. Numbering started in SW corner with #1 proceeding East. Therefore, along the bottom (South) Rank, the numbers are No.1 to No.8.

The part marked "Staats Van Santvoord (S.W. corner) should be No.1 but it's No. 8. This was caused by the Eastorly tier being all mountainside. So the easterly tier was moved over on the west side. So the numbering in the bottom rank is 8, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and next above that is 16, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and so on.

aged 88 years.

To the MEMORY of

Mr. JOHN LAWRENCE

He was born in Connecticut

March 2d 1746. When he was 22 years of age he moved to Bennington VT

where he died Oct. 27th

1825 in the 80th year of his age.

His toils are all ended.
His body at rest.
His soul to its maker.
Who will deal with it just.

Bob, These pages of head stones & Census on John[1], Jphn[2] Lawrence, particularly 1810 VT Benn, show how famlies were involved w/loom for wool, cotton & linen cloth. (Samuel N. Lawrence, s/of Samuel left Benn. for Troy, NY & was in shirt makmaking & Gent's clothing bus)

Goes with Ruth V,A List of items. I have added to line word "& early Benn. VT census

One Old Letter states John Lawrence b.Feb.19,1746 Old Style. John Lawrence's head stone shows Mar. 2, 1746 NS. BUT Mary's headstone shows death date only. Her OS date was Dec. 26, 1747/48. She died aged 88yr,(1mo., 21days) (One cousin added 11 days to Mar.2; another 11 dys to Jan.6

The 1922 DAR Application references p.161 of "Cleveland Genealogy". RAH's p.161 fr Lib. of-Cong. has Mary b.Jan.6 & someone wrote John Lawrence Walpole.(I had this page certified by Rare Bk. Reference man on back of page. (Was this an attempt to authenticate the Lawrence-Townley descendant?) DAR & Benn.VT libraries do not have such statement. Sometimes in "Clevel'd. Gen." A date will say (O.S.)& it is was presumed the other dates N.S.) Does Robt.L.Jackson have same or diff. data for Mary?

Notes on Sources

Issued by the Rhode Island Historical Society:

RIHC Rhode Island Historical Society Collections. Volumes I-XXXIV (1827-1941). This was published occasionally from 1827-1902 (Vols. I-X)—as Collections of the Rhode Island Historical Society—then as a quarterly from 1918-1941 (Vols. XI-XXXIV). It was superseded by Rhode Island History in 1942.

RIH Rhode Island History. Volume I— (1942—). This periodical continued in the tradition of RIHC—quarterly publication of historical and genealogical articles pertaining to Rhode Island. Rhode Island History is today regarded as the standard periodical source for information on Rhode Island history. No family history articles have appeared here since 1967.

PRIH Publications of the Rhode Island Historical Society. Volumes I-VIII (1893-1901). PRIH marked the Society's first true quarterly publication, running to thirty-two numbers. This periodical should not be confused with Proceedings of the Rhode Island Historical Society, another of the Society's serials, which was published from 1872-1892 and again from 1901-1914. During its existence PRIH essentially displaced Proceedings, inasmuch as the first issue of every volume of PRIH consisted of the Society's "Proceedings." PRIH was referred to as a "New Series" to distinguish it from the occasional publication by the Society of discourses, papers, addresses, and reprints of its Proceedings.

Other Sources:

NHM/RIHM Newport Historical Magazine. Volumes 1-7 (1880-1887). A quarterly rich in genealogical articles and source records, NHM was retitled The Rhode Island Historical Magazine in 1884 (Vol. 5). Published by the Newport Historical Publishing Company of Newport, R.I., NHM/

Issued by the Rhode Island Historical Society:

Rhode Island Historical Society Collections, Volume I-XXXVII (1827-1944). This was missing volumes 1-6, 8, 10, 12-17, 19-20, 24-25, 27-28, 30-31, 33-34, 36-37. Collections of the Rhode Island Historical Society—then as a quarterly from 1939-1991 (Vols. XI-XXXVII). It was superseded by Rhode Island History, Volume 1— (1942—). This periodical continued in the tradition of RIHC—primarily publication of historical and genealogical articles pertaining to Rhode Island. Rhode Island History is today regarded as the standard periodical source for information on Rhode Island history. No study library should have a complete run.

Rhode Island Publications, 1643-1800. Providence: Rhode Island Historical Society, Volume 1, 1977. (1982-1991). RIHS ceased to be involved with bibliography publications, owing to divisive internal wrangling. This periodical should not be confused with Publications of the Rhode Island Historical Society, a 26 volume set (1892-1902) and again from 1903-1914. During its latter years (1911) especially, duplicated Proceedings. This ceased to be the title name of every volume of PRIH and issued to the Society's membership. PRIH was instead to as a "Rhode Island: Its Government, Industries and Resources" publication. It was a forum of discussion. Papers, addresses, and reports of the Providence

RIHM was edited by two prominent genealogists—Dr. Henry E. Turner (1880-1884) and R. H. Tilley (1884-1887).

NHR The Narragansett Historical Register, A Magazine Devoted to the Antiquities, Genealogy, and Historical Matter Illustrating the History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. Volumes I-VIII, Volume IX, Numbers 1-2 (1882-1891). NHR was edited by James N. Arnold and publiished by the Narragansett Historical Publishing Company..Full of genealogical source material, NHR was suspended in 1891, apparently freeing Arnold to concentrate on his twenty-one-volume compilation, Vital Record of Rhode Island, 1636-1850.

RIHT Rhode Island Historical Tracts. 1st Series, Numbers 1-20; 2nd Series, Numbers 1-5 (1877-1896). Published by Sidney S. Rider in Providence, R.I., RIHT was a series of historical monographs. All of the genealogical material gleaned from RIHT and included in this work is excerpted from the 1st Series. (Tract No. 20, published in 1895, contains Additions and Corrections.)

STANTON

I take the liberty of enclosing a paper, from which you may possibly glean something of use for your magazine. It shows the extinction in the male line of one of the sons of Robert Stanton of Newport. Daniel[2] had also son Benjamin, d. 1699, s. p. Should be glad to know of any correction, additions or criticisms to be made upon facts as submitted.

B. I. STANTON.

Daniel[2] Stanton, born about 1647-8, Newport, R. I., son of Robert[1]. Daniel[2] married Elizabeth ———, were of Friends society and had son Daniel, 3d, born 19th April, 1683, in Newport, R. I. In 1702 he was a sailor working between Barbadoes and Philadelphia. In about 1706-7, he married Abigail (Spicer). In 1708 they start from Barbadoes; he dies and is buried at sea; she arrives in Philadelphia, and soon her son is born, who is Daniel, 4th, born 1708. Her will is dated May 10, 1714, proved May 31, 1714, in Philadelphia, Pa. She died a widow and gives her estate to son Daniel, but if he dies before he is 21, then it is to go to her brother. Thomas Spicer (presumably the one who reared Daniel as per account below.) Daniel, 4th, m. 5th 2d mo. 1733, Sarah Lloyd of Philadelphia (of John Lloyd, deceased, and Sarah, who died 29th 1st mo. 1753), lived in Philadelphia, carried on trade of joiner, and was a distinguished Friend preacher for 43 years; travels and preaches from North Carolina to Dover, N. H., and to Barbadoes, and through England, Scotland and Ireland. He had children in Philadelphia; only one lived to be of age:

John, b. 1734, d. 5th 7th mo. 1737.
Abigail, b. 1736, d. 24th 11th mo., 1757.
Daniel, b. 1738, d. 5. 5th mo. 1740.
Sarah, b. 1741, 5th of 7th mo., m. Benedict Dorsey, and alive at father's death.
John, b. 1743, d. 17th of 6 mo., 1744.
Samuel, b. 1745, d. 2d 5th mo. 1746.
Josiah, b. 1747, d, 9th of 2d mo. 1748.
Sarah, the mother, d. 3d of 2d mo. 1748; Daniel d. 29th 6th mo. 1770, æ 62 years, and for 43 years a preacher.

The above taken from records in Philadelphia and Newport, R. I., is singularly corroborated by the facts recited by himself in his memoirs. He says:—"I was born 1708 of honest parents, Daniel and Abigail Stanton. My father I never saw, being lost at sea before my birth. My mother died when I was a child, and I being destitute of brother or sister, was brought up (till I was apprenticed) by my mother's brother in New Jersey. Then apprenticed to a joiner in Philadelphia.

In 1731 I went to Rhode Island to see relatives, this being the place where my father was born, and to obtain some estate there which was my father's, of which I had an account during my apprenticeship. Saw my relatives; staid some time to attend to my outward affairs and returned to Philadelphia." States date of his marriage and to whom as above. Is in R. I., in 1735 and 1744. "My wife died 1748, æ 40, and in about a week later I lost my youngest son, having lost four sons before her death. Have two daughters left. Daughter Abigail died 1757, æ 21; was eldest daughter."

He also speaks of uncle Thomas Chalkley, and aunt Martha Chalkley. His kinsman, John Newman, in Coventry, England, whose wife was sister to his (Daniel's) wife, Sarah Lloyd.

Speaks of being in Newport, R. I., 1754, at the burial of Samuel Holmes' wife.

Speaks of Mary Henderson as "my father's sister, she being near West River, Md." She died about 1761. Says he visited at Shrewsbury, N. J., "my father's cousin, James Tucker, 1764." Calls John Lippincott cousin.

DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT TAYLOR*

Robert Taylor was born in Scotland in 1688. When a young man he came to America and settled in Newport, R. I. The tradition is that he came with an elder brother, who settled in one of the southern colonies, but of this brother nothing further is known. Robert, being a shipwright by trade, associated himself with Ralph Chapman, whose shipyard was just south of what is now known as Commercial Wharf. For several years—1712 to 1718—we find him plying his trade as a master shipwright. At that time this business was an important one in Newport. The headquarters of the master shipwrights, at that date, seems to have been the "Kings-Head Tavern," kept by Timothy Whiting, where such men as Ralph Chapman, James Sheffield, Benjamin Belcher, John Beere, Daniel Lambert, Robert Taylor, Thomas Swinburne, James Easton, George Cook and many others, all shipwrights, often met to discuss this branch of business in Newport. In 1720 we find Mr. Taylor residing on Jamestown and representing that town in the General Assembly. His name also appears as "constable" for many years. About 1730 he, with Daniel Ayrault, Jr., and Capt. Robert Sherman, became interested in the West India trade, owning a num-

EARLY CONNECTICUT MARRIAGES.

PREFACE.

The first settlers of Connecticut came from Massachusetts Bay and Plymouth Colonies and located at Windsor, Hartford and Wethersfield. All alike being devoted disciples of Christ, Gospel ministers came also, and at once Christian worship was established and parishes formed. The same condition of things prevailed among other settlers from the East who a little later located along the Connecticut shore. A church whose learned minister was to serve both in the capacity of instructor of youth and man's spiritual guide was the essential ambition of every permanent and promising settlement.

Since agriculture, both by necessity and choice, was in those trying times the only dependence of our sturdy ancestors, the possession of the necessary land with a little to spare became a common and prevailing impulse; while the occasional cessation of Indian warfares gave the ambitious sons and later arrivals the increased courage to locate for themselves farther and farther inland. And all naturally resulting in new parish organizations and later by division of the old or the opening of new territory, into other incorporated towns. In each and every case the church serving as that nucleus around which a township was formed.

We cannot do better than record here the dates of the organization of the earlier parishes: Windsor, 1630; Hartford, 1632; Wethersfield, 1635; Stamford, 1635; New Haven, 1639; Stratford, 1639; Old Saybrook, 1639; Milford, 1639; Fairfield, 1639; Guilford, 1643; Branford, 1644; New London, 1650.

Prior to the year 1659 there were in Connecticut eleven parish organizations. (And we have reference here to Congregational churches only, since they were the earliest and most prevalent everywhere). Before 1700 the eleven had increased to thirty-three. And by 1750 to 147, which number by the year 1800 had reached 200.

It is to this large but limited number that our attention has been directed. From among these copies of baptisms and marriages have been secured, out of which the following complete records of marriages have been taken.

We cannot speak in too high praise of that faithfulness to duty which seems as a rule to have possessed the early pastors who, amidst their studious cares, gave close attention to their parish records carefully to note both the marriages and baptisms among their own. Every parish seems to have possessed at some time these inherited treasures. At the same time have we reason to regret that lack of appreciation and careless indifference on the part of some responsible church official, whose possible neglect had been the cause of the total or partial loss of the interesting and valuable manuscripts alone telling the church's story of the first families' spiritual life. Over and over again has come to us the sad report that the early church records had been lost or burned or somehow destroyed, possibly carried away and never returned, no one seemingly enough interested to trace and restore them to their proper place. So that as from remote and inaccessible places there have come to us, one by one, copies of such records taken from old church books still extant through all the years, we feel a sense of gratitude not only that in all the many changes of time and circumstance some kind and watchful hand had given protection; but that by these alone were we still able to gain access to the inner life of some little flock of the Heaven-Bound that may even have embraced ancestors of our own name.

A good and sufficient reason exists therefore for this publication. Another and possibly still more appreciable reason lies in the additional aid which these records will afford an increasing number whose genealogical endeavors have been suddenly checked by an hopeless failure to secure much desired data. It is possible the very fact wanted is herein or may supply the long sought clue.

Our town records in a number of cases have been found to be imperfect, pages missing and mutilated, sometimes lost. The town clerks of Connecticut are not as a rule in sympathy with genealogical research, so that the satisfaction to be derived from them is at times extremely limited. With some very worthy exceptions, however, it is true that their interest in the preservation of ancient birth and marriage records amounts to a most ordinary willingness to allow the ancient books a place in the old and crowded safe by increased use to wear out slowly, feed a worm, or part piece by piece with a tattered leaf.

We are pleased to say, however, that somehow, whether altogether due to our colonial societies or otherwise, a gradual awakening is taking place, old towns themselves taking action till we trust that as in Massachusetts the State of Connecticut may yet make some enactment looking at last to a common reconstruction.

Now, with reference to the following marriages, permit us to say that all herein are from church books and are the complete records (so far as they exist) of those churches to 1800. It is probable that many of them may be found recorded on the town records, but it is true that herein is much the town records do not contain, which fact gives to the publication additional value.

It is to be noted, too, that the copy is exact, so far as the spelling is concerned. The arrangement is our own. Where a difficulty has been experienced with a name in copy two spellings are given, or a (?) used. The aim being to place before the reader just what the records contain.

We can but trust it may be of some little service to the many descendants of the old and patriotic Connecticut settlers scattered all over this great land.

NEW HAVEN.

NEW HAVEN COUNTY.

The first Congregational Church in New Haven is as old as the town. April 15th, 1638, the first settlers having just landed, assembled for public worship. The organization of the church was completed in 1639, at which time the baptismal records begin.

The marriage records date only to 1758, and it is supposed that earlier records were lost in 1779, when the British troops visited the city.

Introduction

In 1896 the Rev. Frederic W. Bailey of New Haven, Conn., began publishing a series called Early Connecticut Marriages, and this was continued through the next few years until seven volumes were in print. For more than half a century, these books have been helpful to many people with Connecticut ancestry. They are a great aid especially to compilers of family histories, who wish to locate every item pertaining to a specific surname. Sometimes the searcher finds the very marriage record he is seeking. If not, it is often of value to learn in what towns the desired surname appears.

Mr. Bailey rarely copied these records, mostly from church registers, personally. He wrote to the ministers or clerks of churches, and to people interested in genealogy, in the various towns, and requested copies of the marriage records. Some were copied for him gratis, for others a small charge was made. Some were copied by people of education or natural ability; a few were copied by careless or uninformed persons who obviously had trouble in reading the script (particularly the early script) in which the records were written. The late Albert C. Bates, for many years librarian of the Connecticut Historical Society, once told me that to his positive knowledge one of the church registers was copied for Mr. Bailey by a child!

Over the years I have had occasion to use these books a great deal, and have often found it profitable to do so. However, in view of the facts just stated, this small note of caution should be struck. While most of the records are reasonably accurate, those of three or four churches are replete with errors in reading names. I have entered marginal corrections in a few places where I have caught such errors, but doubtless there are others in records of churches I have never had occasion to consult.

Hence this word of advice. Of course a vast majority of the records in these volumes are correct. However, if the reader has the slightest reason to suspect that a name in which he is interested may have been misread, he should write to the State Library in Hartford and inquire. A large number of Connecticut church registers have now been deposited at the State Library, where gradually over the years skilled employees have been indexing them. Hence there is a very good chance that any doubtful entry can be verified or corrected upon request.

Introduction

PREFACE.

EARLY CONNECTICUT MARRIAGES.

FOURTH BOOK.

It is exceedingly gratifying to be able through kindly patronage to present herewith the Fourth Book of "Early Connecticut Marriages"—a title which by this time has become quite familiar to a few at least in all parts of the country who have been permitted thereby to link themselves with Connecticut's early colonial life.

Even if not without some prospect of a financial loss, still the satisfaction that comes from being the means of saving a portion of our old and valuable records from the too common fate is at least part payment for the sacrifice involved.

Then, too, it may be said that had not old Benoni Bailey of Danbury, born 1697, settled on Connecticut soil, leaving for the colony a goodly line of descendants, though no information of his ancestry, our unswerving interest in Connecticut records might not have been so apparent. And yet one with any degree of love for American antiquity could hardly live in this venerable State, with its intensely sober history and a thought of the multitudinous fruitage scattered everywhere, and at the same time be a constant witness to the decaying condition in which the old records exist, without making some feeble attempt to save.

The facts upon which this statement is based are not far to seek. Indeed, a faint idea of our serious losses and dangers may be gathered from the list of "Records Lost" to be found herein. It has reference alone to the old church records, which, though in private hands, have not been most wisely cared for. And when it is understood how in many cases our organized townships have been the outgrowth of such churches, it may be seen that the loss of the church records means everything. And as for town records themselves, it is not the actual loss at present that we have to lament, even if in several cases fire has destroyed them. From our constant experience among them during the last six years, during which time it has been our privilege to examine the records of almost every old town in the State, it may be truthfully and candidly said that lest some definite action on their behalf is quickly taken by State authorities, this very conservative old commonwealth is likely to lose a goodly number of the most precious archives within its territory. And that, too, not necessarily by fire, but simply in the fact, which any one can appreciate, that even the best paper and the best binding an hundred and fifty and two hundred years old, subject to the hard usage they have had and still have, must wear out. This, we are free to say, is a pertinent fact too frequently met with among the records of our old towns. And is made more real when we understand that towns themselves in numbers of cases have done nothing and are doing less to preserve other than to continue to furnish meager safe room. In an atmosphere of utter indifference and neglect, with old books fast decaying and with no attempt made to secure copies, every descendant of Connecticut ancestry has good reason to be alarmed and as well to protest.

To be sure there are praiseworthy exceptions to this broad statement—cases where towns themselves are alive to the seriousness of the situation, and where town clerks, too, taking oft the initiative, have deeply interested themselves in the protection and preservation of the books in their care. Such towns as Hartford, Norwich, Norwalk, Stamford and other cities, where perhaps the ready means and public demands have opened the way. Also in some of the smaller towns, where the influence of some interested party or town clerk has prevailed, as at Plainfield, Preston, Guilford, Windsor, Woodbury, Ridgefield, East Haddam, New Hartford, Saybrook. But in others, where there has been neither the personal interest nor the means, such as Lyme, Colchester, Willington, Farmington, Stratford, Simsbury, Haddam, Sharon, Greenwich, Stonington, Wallingford, Salisbury, Enfield, Windham, Union, Lebanon, Fairfield, Canterbury, Newtown, there may be seen ancient records which should either have been carefully transcribed long ago, or else placed in good repair. As it is here in these towns may be found valuable historical records rapidly passing beyond recall.

With considerable satisfaction we read in the annual message of His Excellency, Governor Lounsbury, a reference to this subject. Upon his suggestion the Assembly, just before adjournment, was pleased to take action and to provide for the appointment of a Commission of Public Records that should in due time make report. And yet it seems as if two years were a long period under the circumstances to await a report which is, after an examination, merely to recommend the best methods of preserving the old archives. Surely the subject so very familiar to our town representatives might have found some ready expedient to effectually check at once all further danger of loss or damage in this direction.

The prevailing system of record keeping, which has never been changed since first the colony was organized, and which provides that each town retain its land records under the care of the town clerk, who also is recorder, might for public safety and convenience have been improved upon long ago. As it is we to-day, who are reading and thinking of expansion and progress everywhere, have the opportunity of seeing herein an indication of the old conservatism that exists among us. It may do very well for a city or large centralized village, having the means and permanent quarters to retain possession of all land records within the township, but when it comes to searching for a town clerk afar from the railroad centers, who, perhaps, suddenly and unexpectedly coming into public office by some sudden change of political power, has, for his own personal convenience and economy, carried the old books away to his own inaccessible home, the incongruity of the thing impresses the mind amazingly.

It will be found, too, that the towns themselves have no uniform way of protecting their records. The question of expense being a vital one, and the office of town clerk—with little remuneration—not largely sought for, the problem becomes one of expediency. And so we find three different methods in vogue The town records may be found in private houses at Pomfret, Ashford, Mansfield, Lyme, Lisbon, Lebanon, Union, Somers, Killingworth, Woodbridge, Wilton, Easton, East Windsor, Thompson (in part), Wethersfield, Harwinton, Hebron, a safe being provided. In other towns the country store has been the most convenient repository for the public safe, as at Preston, Canterbury, Killingly, Colchester, East Haddam, Avon, Granby, Cornwell, Kent, Willington. A bank vault is used at Norfolk and Canaan; while in the majority of cases a building is provided for the town clerk's use, though it is not the case everywhere that the safe is at all adequate for the protection of all papers deserving of it.

It may be remarked in passing how many early records have never been provided with indexes of the Grantors, though quite as essential as that of the Grantees to be found.

To the stranger searching among us, our probate system, perhaps, possesses the most unintelligible complications. He finds the probate offices scattered about the State, as if choses in some lottery scheme, and so ordered that they cover varying degrees of territory. The early history of our old towns may offer a solution to this question, as we see how with the dissection of original towns into new townships the probate still remained intact till public convenience made necessary a larger extension of districts. The whole system is for our day rather antiquated and sadly inconvenient, but in so ignoring township lines it did establish a fortunate precedent that might well have been followed in the case of the town records themselves. As to the probate records, it can hardly be said that they are in any more satisfactory condition than the town, though less in number. The early probate at Fairfield, New Haven, Sharon, Stafford, Colchester, Plainfield, are sadly deficient with indexes especially wanting, while in the latter case an old safe is provided and located in a country store. Such old books as can be are crowded into it, but, strange to say, the door cannot be locked nor yet closed securely. And these records date back to 1747. And this, notwithstanding that the town of Plainfield possesses a capacious vault in which its own thoroughly indexed records are safely kept.

In addition to the above, the State possesses valuable court records reaching back into the early colonial days, and located at Hartford, Norwich, Bridgeport and elsewhere, but which are seldom consulted for lack of any index whatever. Windham, New Haven and Litchfield County records have more or less perfect indexes, but the old historic county books are almost sealed to the casual searcher. It is in these we find proof how that the "Scarlet Letter" was a penalty not unknown to this colony in its earlier days, that robbery was punished by a brand upon the forehead, while other facts equally interesting are hidden from view.

Let us hope we are on the eve of a new departure in this particular. That the enterprising spirit shown in our neighboring State, the evidence of whose good work all can see, may ultimately reach us; and that along with good roads and good schools and good public buildings, liberal appropriations may be made for preserving all the records of the early lives of our people and of those impressive facts upon which all present and future greatness rests.

FREDERIC W. BAILEY.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 1, 1899.

I am glad that this valuable series is now made available by the Genealogical Publishing Company to all who wish to acquire this useful genealogical tool.

THE INDEXES: NOTE WELL. Each volume is indexed separately, and by surname only. The indexes are alphabetical to this extent. All names beginning with the same letter are indexed together under the initial letter. Thus, Bradley and Beach will naturally be found under the letter B. However, the names are then placed in accordance with the first vowel in the name and not in strict alphabetical order. Hence, Bradley will appear considerably ahead of Beach, because the first vowel in Bradley is 'a' while the first letter in Beach is 'e.' Suppose the name sought to be Clement. Turn to the letter C and skip along through those in which the first vowel is 'a' such as Carrington and Crane until you reach names in which the first vowel is 'e' and read these through until you find Clement. When you reach C names in which the first vowel is 'o' such as Coburn, your index search, whether successful in locating the name Clement or not, is over.

DONALD LINES JACOBUS

Publisher's Preface

This work, as reprinted in a single volume with Additions and Corrections by Mr. Donald Lines Jacobus, forms the most complete collection extant of printed Connecticut church marriage records down to 1800. We have included in this reprint the indexes to Books 1 and 2 which were published separately as inserts and have integrated all printed errata into the text. We were also so fortunate as to have Mr. Jacobus write a new Introduction explaining how he, as a professional genealogist, has used these records over the years.

Compiled over a period of ten years and originally published by the Bureau of American Ancestry in seven separate books from 1896-1906, the work has since been very difficult to obtain in its entirety and, then, only at a substantial price. Our reprint, as part of our program to make basic genealogical reference books once again available as complete as possible and as economical as feasible, is offered to the researcher and librarian, as well as the general public, in the belief that this valuable series will be a useful tool.

GENEALOGIES.

Families of 1651 to 1850 and their Resident Descendants.

Note.— The dates in these genealogies are generally given in accordance with New Style. There will be, doubtless, some discrepancies in comparing with other records, on this account. The first date appended to a name indicates the year of birth; a second date, separated from the first by a dash, is the year of death; m., married; and a number enclosed in parentheses following a name refers to its place in the family as given in this book. The sign + before a name shows that there is particular reference to it further on.

ADAMS.

Edward Adams, son of Henry of Braintree, born in England, came to Medfield with three of his brothers about 1652, and took up a house lot on Bridge Street, near the corner of Dale Street. His house was burned by the Indians in 1676. He served on the board of selectmen for many years; was commissioner in 1689, and representative in 1692. He was in full communion at the time of Mr. Baxter's settlement. In his later years, he was often employed in the settlement of estates. His will mentions the children of his son Eliashib, who probably died before his father. Jonathan, John, and Edward, he states, had already received their portion; and he mentions by name his daughters, Lydia Daniel, Sarah Turner, and Mehitable Faxon. He married, first, Lydia (Rockwood, possibly), who died in 1676; second, in 1678, Abigail Day of Dedham, who died in 1707; third, in 1710, Sarah Taylor. He died in 1716, the last of the original settlers. Children:—

2. Lydia, 1653–1731; m. in 1673 James Allen (6); second, Joseph Daniels (4).
+3. Jonathan, 1655.
+4. John, 1657.
5. Eliashib, 1658; settled in Bristol, R.I.
6. Sarah, 1660–1747; m. in 1677 John Turner (4).
7. James, 1661; settled in Barrington, R.I.
8. Henry, 1663; m. in 1691 Patience Ellis (58), who died in 1695, leaving two children, Daniel and Hannah. Henry then removed to Canterbury, Conn.

GRUBB.

THOMAS GRUBB took the freeman's oath in 1634. Till 1652, he lived in Boston. At that date, he was accepted as a townsman here. His house lot was on the brook, near the corner of Main and Bridge Streets, his land being mostly on the south side of the way. The brook went by the name of "Grubb's brook" years afterward. He was a man of some note, a commissioner at least; served as a selectman in 1655. He left town about 1660, and his place was sold to William Cheney. A Thomas Grubb, shopkeeper, probably the same, died in Boston in 1673, leaving his property to the church in Boston, they to take care of his "poor wife and son."

HAMANT.

FRANCIS HAMANT is said to have come from Dedham, though there is no trace of him in the records of that town. When the house lots were taken up on South Street, Francis received his in that location. For some reason, he did not build his house there, but secured a small spot near the brook, where his house was erected some time subsequent to November, 1651, and prior to June, 1653,—probably during the summer of 1652. The homestead has never been out of the possession of his descendants, and is now owned and occupied by F. D. Hamant. This is the only case of the kind among the first thirteen settlers.

He died in 1692, and his wife Sarah in 1708. Children:—

+2. JOHN, 1653.
3. SARAH, 1655; m. in 1674 John Weeks.
4. MARY; m. in 1674 Michael Wilson of Wrentham.
5. HANNAH, 1660.
6. SAMUEL, 1663.
7. ELIZABETH; m. Jeremiah Morse (24); died in 1733.
+8. TIMOTHY, 1667.
9. ABIGAIL; m. in 1708 Jonathan Lawrence (15). She received of her brother the year of her marriage the portion due from her father's estate.

JOHN [2] (Francis [1]) had by his father's will a lot of land at "planting field"; and, soon after, the town granted him a small spot "where his siller now stands." Later, he had another grant, "where his house stands." In 1702, a road is spoken of as being "near John Hamant's house, by his line over a stony brook toward rail-tree neck." The land which he received from his father was to go to Timothy, his brother, in case he should die without heirs. He died unmarried in 1708. His house stood, evidently, not far from that now owned by George D. Hamant on High Street. Perhaps the old cellar near by marks the spot, but it is uncertain.

"History of the Town of Medfield, Mass., 1650 to 1886" by William S. Tilden, 1887, F74.M46T54, Microfilm No.70914

9. Polly, 1795–1873; m. in 1836 George Newell (1).
+10. Timothy, 1797.
11. Ardilla, 1799–1833.
12. Caty.
13. Richard; removed to Maine.

10.

Timothy[2] (Elihu[1]) married in 1841 Maria Lane. Daughter:—

14. Susan, 1841; m. in 1866 David Allison of Groton.

Jonathan Lawrence was the son of Peleg of Groton and wife Elizabeth Morse (22), and was born in 1679. He married in 1709 Abigail Hamant (9). Soon after 1720, the "widow Abigail Lawrence" received a grant of a small piece of land at "tail-tree neck." The house must have been near the South School-house, not far from the Walpole road. Abigail died here, but the date of her death is obliterated. Son:—

16. Jonathan, 1712; born in Natick; married in 1738 Hannah Robbins of Walpole. He lived on his mother's place for a few years. In 1748, he had leave "to cut a few trees near Samuel Hamant's that shade his land." About 1761, he sold his land to Asa Hamant and his house to Samuel Smith. Four children are recorded: Jonathan, 1739; Abigail, 1742; Mary, 1745–1749; William, 1748. He is said to have gone to Nova Scotia, where he died; and his widow Hannah returned to Walpole, where she was supported by the town.

LOVELL.

Alexander Lovell came to Medfield with the colony of Weymouth and Braintree men about 1652. Nothing is known of him previously. He was a single man when he came, and was married to Lydia Albee (5) in 1658, by Magistrate Atherton of Dorchester. She died in 1661; and he married, second, it has been said, Lydia, daughter of Hopestill Leland. His house lot was on Bridge Street, near that now owned and occupied by Charles Russell. He had a grant of a piece of land to build his house upon in 1658; also, of "sedar timber to shingle it." He died in 1709, his wife in 1700. He was one of those who were burned out by the Indians in 1676. His will, made in 1701, states that he was at that time eighty-two years of age. Children:

2. Alexander, 1660–1661.
3. Lydia, 1664–1664.
4. Lydia, 1665–1694; m. in 1688 Joseph Ellis (6).
5. Sarah, 1667; m. in 1700 Samuel Gary of Woodstock.
6. Nathaniel, 1669–1669.
+7. Alexander, 1671.
+8. Nathaniel, 1672.
9. Deborah, 1675–1740; m. Samuel Ellis (56).

Notes

John Lawrence was admitted a freeman, April 17, 1637, when about twenty-eight years old; though it will be seen, by the early Massachusetts Records, that the freeman's oath was given at first to males of only sisteen years. 28 February 1636 he receaved three acres of land, his share of a grant then made to the townsmen, a hundred and six in number. In 1650, he bought of the town fifteen acres of common land (called King's Common). 'In 1654, Hugh Mason received of John Lawrence, clerk, 2 pounds 17 shillings 6 pennies money for town or parish use.' His removal to Groton is determined by various facts and dates. Town Records are in existence, dated June 23, 1662; the first probably made. As one of the original proprietors, he owned 'a twenty-acre right.' The sale of his lands and mansion-house in Watertown was made in 1662. In December of the same year, it appears by the records of Groton, 'meet men were found amongst the inhabitants,' of whom 'John Lawrence' was one, 'who were chosen selectmen.' He was evidently a man of smoe intelligence and invluence, and held a good place in the public esteem. Though a large landholder for the times, he is said to have carried on the business of a carpenter both in Watertown and Boston. He died in Groton, 11 July 1667 leaving his sons Nathaniel and Joseph, and wife Susanna, executors of his will.

Introduction

I

CLARENCE ALMON TORREY'S New England Marriages Prior to 1700 is one of the greatest genealogical manuscripts of the twentieth century. The major successor to James Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England, published 1860-1862 and reprinted frequently since, Torrey's compilation is both (1) a nearly comprehensive listing of, and bibliography for, the married population of seventeenth-century New England; and (2) a summary and index, for its subject, of the best American genealogical scholarship since 1860. Acquired by the New England Historic Genealogical Society (henceforth NEHGS) after Torrey's death in 1962, used almost hourly by its librarians and members to find sources for, and identify, Pilgrim and Great Migration immigrants, their children and grandchildren, New England Marriages Prior to 1700 was published on microfilm by NEHGS in 1979. Although Torrey's own rather difficult handwriting and his hundreds of cryptic source abbreviations were merely photographed, this microfilm — in seven reels — proved so immediately and universally useful that Genealogical Publishing Company of Baltimore (henceforth GPC) asked Elizabeth Petty Bentley, the well-known compiler of census indexes, to prepare a book version as well. Requiring two years to transcribe, this volume contains that portion of Torrey's work that can serve as a guide to the remainder — the listing, but not the bibliography, of the 37,000 couples who resided in colonial New England during its first eight decades. Included as well, whenever known, are the wife's maiden name, the marriage date or birth year of a first child, the birth and death years of both partners, and question marks to indicate unproved assertions. Most importantly, this volume also lists all residences of every couple, so that the geographical spread of any surname can be easily surmised, and the index includes all surname variations (since Torrey was not always strictly alphabetical), all known seventeenth-century New England wives, and each of their other husbands.

Clarence Almon Torrey, whose obituary appears in The New England bibliography, of 37,000 married couples of seventeenth-century New England. From the works discussed above and a few other guides, however, many of the sources Torrey cites can be readily inferred or discovered. From a concise list of married residents, moreover, the early geographical distribution of any New England surname can be seen immediately, so that researchers now know where the families or forebears of pioneer ancestors are likely to have originated. And the listing and indexing of wives not only summarizes much post-1860 scholarship and suggests many in-law connections between immigrants; it also covers the hitherto difficult-of-access marital history of many seventeenth-century women "not further treated" in other sources. For these reasons, and given the sheer convenience of a typed book over a microfilmed manuscript, NEHGS and GPC have cooperated in producing this second, listing-only, book edition of Clarence Almon Torrey's New England Marriages Prior to 1700.

 For each of the 37,000 couples herein covered, the husband's full name (roughly alphabetical, with variant spellings grouped under the most common) is followed sometimes by a superscript to indicate generation (usually first or second), then by birth and death years, if known, in parenthesis. "(1654-)" indicates a birth in 1654 and an unknown death year; "(-1700)" indicates an unknown birth year and a death in 1700. "Ca" for "circa" means "about" and "ae 35 in 1674" indicates aged 35 in 1674, a fact recorded probably in a court deposition. After an ampersand, "&," the wife's full name is given, with any known birth or death years likewise in parenthesis. "1/wf" or "2/wf" indicates first or second wife, any surname in parenthesis is a maiden name (in general, if there are two surnames, one or both in parenthesis, the first is a maiden surname, the second that of a first husband; if there are three surnames, however the parentheses are placed, the last two are those of previous husbands in chronological order), a blank line (within or outside parenthesis) indicates that the wife's maiden name is unknown, a surname in brackets is one not derived from a marriage record, "w Daniel" indicates "widow of Daniel," whose last name is given earlier, and "m/2" or "m/3," followed by a man's full name and often a year, indicates a second or third marriage. After the data on husband and wife is a semicolon, then a date. If the date is exact — 25 Nov. 1674 — it is a marriage (or marriage intention) date; if it is a year only, preceded by "b," it is the birth date of a first child, not the birthdate of either partner, and the marriage can be assumed to have taken place a year or more

 (People draw the wrong conclusions, if the coding for listing is not

earlier. Often these "first child" birthdates are approximate. Following this date is a list of residences, from marriage through usually the death of the husband, in chronological order. Question marks alongside any data indicate doubt, of course; "+" after a date means "following," "−" means "before," and stray kinships that might provide clues to origins are sometimes noted as well. Since marriages of men with the same name are also roughly chronological, and each marriage is listed separately, data on a man's second marriage (including residence only after it) often does not immediately follow the listing for his first.

Once a researcher has culled a list of ancestors — proved, probable, or likely — from this edition of New England Marriages Prior to 1700, and is looking, of course, for further information on them, he can first determine if the major genealogical library nearby has purchased the microfilm edition. Copies are now in at least one library in most states with significant New England-derived populations. He can also purchase any one or more reels of the microfilm from the New England Historic Genealogical Society, 101 Newbury Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02116. NEHGS will also, for a fee, photocopy pages from Torrey's original manuscript that contain the references he seeks. At present the Society can only send pages from New England Marriages — not from the sources it cites; and fees for such copies are determined by the number of couples for whom references are requested. By himself and in many local libraries, however, the researcher can find many of the sources Torrey combed. After checking the genealogical dictionaries by Savage, Pope, Austin, and Noyes, Libby and Davis, plus the entries in Founders of Early American Families and AGBI, one should next examine any printed genealogies covering New Englanders with either husband's or wife's surname, plus any definitive work on the family of an earlier or later spouse. Researchers can next peruse pertinent town histories and town genealogies (for each town in which the couple resided). Even the periodical literature and multi-family compendia can be usefully surveyed without prior references. For periodicals through 1953 check Jacobus' already cited Index to Genealogical Periodicals; for later articles look briefly at the Genealogical Periodical Annual Index, which now covers, selectively, the years 1962-1969 and 1974-1985. Every-name indexes exist for the entire run of The Mayflower Descendant, the first 105 volumes (through 1969) of the Essex Institute Historical Collections, and the first fifty volumes of the Register (the first volume of a new every-name index to the first 140 volumes of the Register, through 1986,

FOREWORD

John Osborne Austin (1849-1918) was born in Providence, Rhode Island, the son of Samuel and Elizabeth Hanson Austin. His ancestry was essentially New England — "beautiful Aquidneck, Nantucket, 'The Cape', Salem and Dover, N. H." Although his formal education did not extend beyond the secondary level (he was graduated from Union Hall School where his father was principal), he traveled widely, was successful in the woolen business, and his writings are convincing evidence of a skilled and tutored mind. Austin's travels included trips to Europe on several occasions, one to the diamond fields of South Africa in 1873, and others to California, the Society Islands and New Zealand. Aside from The Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island which appeared in 1887, he also authored The Ancestry of Thirty-three Rhode Islanders (1889), The Ancestral Dictionary (1891), One Hundred and Sixty Allied Families (1893), The Roger Williams Calendar (1897), The Journal of William Jefferay, Gentleman (1899), More Seven Club Tales (1900), Philip and Philippa (1901), A Week's Wooing (1902), American Authors' Ancestry (1915), a memorial volume of stories dedicated to his wife (1916), and Impressions and Reflections of Sixty Years (1917).

Austin's principal literary contribution was as a genealogist and compiler. As a life-long resident of Providence his major focus in the field of genealogy was Rhode Island, of which the chief example is his Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island. A member of the Rhode Island Historical Society, he was both a user of and a contributor to its collections of local genealogy. In 1885 the Society passed a resolution at its annual meeting to commend to public notice the forthcoming publication of Austin's Genealogical Dictionary. Time has proven their commendation to be well-placed. Today, some eighty years after, it remains a principal, if not the principal, reference tool for Rhode Island. Since it is the Society's own copy of Austin which has been used by the Genealogical Publishing Company, Inc. for reprinting, we are doubly pleased to commend it to public attention again.

It should be noted that certain additions and corrections have been made in the volume. Many of these were made by Austin himself and published in eight supplementary pages. Mr. Clifford P. Monahon, former Librarian and Director of The Rhode Island Historical Society pasted each addition carefully into place. Other notations such as that which appears on page 114 were made from time to time. V.F. on p. 114 refers to a note on the Jennings family contained in the verticle file in our library reading room. The reader should exercise caution in accepting manuscript notations and marginalia, since neither Mr. Austin nor the Society is responsible for them. Finally, additions by Mr. G. Andrews Moriarty which appeared originally in the American Genealogist have been reprinted and appear at the end of this reprint edition.

PREFACE

Any intelligent person is capable of becoming interested in family history. This interest is increasing in this country to such an extent that a great desire is now manifested by many, for a fuller knowledge of their ancestry. Such a knowledge encourages truly democratic ideas, by showing the universal brotherhood of the race.

The material gathered in these pages was drawn from many sources. It is presented to the reader by a clear method, requiring but little explanation; though the plan is a comprehensive one, and the arrangement in some respects original.

There is no attempt made to give a record of persons whose stay was but a temporary one in this colony. The towns annexed to Rhode Island in 1747, and later, are not considered to come strictly within the scope of this work ; yet many families in these towns are included, particularly in Tiverton and Little Compton, which were largely settled from the older part of the colony. In such cases, the towns are reckoned as though always within the bounds of Rhode Island.

It is the hope of the author that this book may prove an incentive to many family genealogies, whereby the records of individuals may be brought down to the present time. To the many persons and associations that have given valuable aid in supplying information, cordial thanks are tendered.

JOHN OSBORNE AUSTIN.

(The paragraph of dark printed adds was part of the publication.
The 2nd col. of Staton family info. also was part of publication.)

The additions and corrections go from 1943-1963 as pages in 1978 publications of Genealogies of Rhode Island Families.

The Am. Genealogist Apr 1954 Vol xxx, No 2

throp, Jr., at Pequot asks him "to entertain Goodwife Bowditch and her husband if they go thither." They undoubtedly lived in Newport after leaving Salem.

Children:

2 i. Nathaniel[2], bapt. Salem, 12:12:1642/3.
ii. (undoubtedly) a daughter, m. Richard Dunn, Sr., of Newport, R.I., and had: 1. Richard. 2. Samuel. 3. Nathaniel, ancestor of the Block Island Dunn family. (Austin, p. 68.)

2. Nathaniel[2] Bowdish (William[1]), of Newport, R.I., weaver, baptized at Salem, 12:12:1642/3, died before 12 Apr. 1706 (date of inventory). On 9 Dec. 1673, layers out of common lands at Salem were ordered to lay out land formerly granted to William Bowdish and on 12 Oct. 1674 Nathaniel Bowdish of Newport, R.I., sold to John Pudney 30 acres at Salem Commons [Essex County Deeds; New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 72:224]. He was granted land in the Commons at Newport, 12 Mar. 1701/2 [Newport Town Records]. His will dated 5 —— [1706?] names sons William and Nathaniel; daughters Sarah Bull, Hannah and Katherine, and cousin Richard Dunn. Administration granted to son William on 2 May 1706. [Newport Town Council Records.] His wife's name has not been learned.

Children:

3 i. William[3].
ii. Nathaniel, occurs in Newport County Court Records in 1705. Probably the ancestor of the Bowdish family of East and West Greenwich, 1750.
iii. Sarah, m. after 23 Apr. 1691, as second wife, Jireh Bull, Jr. (d. 1709), of Newport.
iv. Hannah, bapt. as an adult at Trinity Church, Newport, before and about 1709.
v. Katherine.
vi. (?) Mary, m. at Trinity Church, Newport, 8 Oct. 1720, John Davis.

Actual Bk. p.488

3. William[3] Bowdish (Nathaniel[2], William[1]) of Dartmouth, Mass., tailor; married Mercy Tompkins, born 20 Oct. 1685, daughter of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Allen) Tompkins of Little Compton, R.I. He sold his father's house in Newport on 22 Apr. 1712 to Capt. Richard Dunn [Newport Town Deeds]. His will, dated 5 Apr. 1750, proved 6 May 1755 [Bristol County, Mass., Probate].

Children:

i. Nathaniel[4], b. 22 —— 1709.
ii. William, b. Sept. 1712.
iii. Katherine, b. 6 Aug. 17--.
iv. Hannah, b. Apr. 1717; m. Joseph Brownell.

(Actual bk.p. 489)

I retyped this info to put 2nd column of STANTON family.

v. Elizabeth, m. Paul Russell of Dartmouth.
vi. Freegift, b. 31 Mar. 1726(?); of Tiverton, R.I.

Note: There is no known connection between the above family and the distinguished Bowditch family of Salem, descended from William Bowditch of Salem in 1671. But it is probable that, like them, they came from Devon or Dorset, where the Bowditches are numerous.

BROWN (Nicholas, page 28). William (2nd column) had daughters Martha and Jane and a son Tobias. Evidently Martha married John Sims and Jane married John Rogers. The will of John Bailey of Newport, dated 8 May 1733, proved 2 Feb. 1735/6, mentions "daughter-in-law Martha Sims and daughter-in-law Jane Rogers [Newport Town Council, Probate Records]. In Jan. 1714/15, Tobias Brown of Portsmouth (son of William) sold land in Newport to John Bayley. From this it would appear that the widow of William Brown married secondly, John Bailey of Newport, as his second wife. [Information furnished by Edward H. West, Esq., of Laurel, Maryland.]

BULL (Henry, page 264). For Allen connection, see Allen, ante. Jireh, Jr. (page 265, 3rd column), married secondly, Sarah. She was the daughter of Nathaniel Bowdish of Newport [ante, Bowdish, and Essex Institute Hist. Coll., 48:335-7].

CRANSTON and STANTON. This is to revise statements made in The American Genealogist, 25:250, specifically the conclusion that William[2] Cranston (Gov. John[1]) married Mary Stanton. That was based upon the statement of William's son William[3] in the chancery case of Pope vs. Smith (cf. New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 100:219) to the effect that he was nephew of John Cranston (i.e., Col. John[2], son of Gov. John[1]) and also of Henry Stanton.

Gov. John Cranston married Mary Clarke, who married secondly, Capt. John Stanton of Newport, and had a son Henry by him. Thus William[3] Cranston, the deponent of 1773, was a nephew of Col. John Cranston on his father's side, and of Henry Stanton on his grandmother's side, through her second marriage. The maiden name of Mary, wife of William[2] Cranston, is still unknown.

The will of Capt. John Stanton of Newport, dated 16 —— 1712, proved 5 July 1725(?), names daughters Mary Coggeshall, Hannah Carr, and Avis Norton [Newport Town Council Records]. Accordingly, in Austin's account of Capt. John Stanton's children (page 389), add daughters Mary (married ——— Coggeshall) and Avis. The will of Mary Coggeshall, dated 4 Mar. 1740, proved 1 June 1747 [Newport Town Council Records] names sons John, Joshua, and Joseph, daughters Mary wife of Thomas Weaver, Hannah wife of Benjamin Weaver, Marey Fish, Avis & Humility, also son-in-law Peleg Wood and brother Benjamin Stanton. I'm indebted to Bertha W. Clarke of Boston for valuable assistance on this matter.
